A Country House,

And about 200 acres of Land, within 3 miles of Alexandria, will be sold by the subscriber. The house was formerly occupied by himself, and is about one third of a mile from his present dwelling. The situation is high and remarkably healthy. The house has 4 rooms, and a kitchen and pantry, on the lower floor, and four chambers with fire places in the 2d story. It was well built under the superintendence of Mr. Loering, a respectable English architect, and would make a comfortable summer retreat for a genteel family, or might be made a valuable Tavern by opening a road through the land. About one half of the land is in wood; the residue is capable of being made handsome grounds. There is a good well and pump in the yard; and there are several good springs on the land.
The terms of payment will be one fifth in four months; the residue in four equal annual payments with interest; one half secured by notes well endorsed, and the whole by a deed of trust on the land.
Possession may be had immediately.

PLAIN PREACHING.

Review.—A Century Sermon delivered in Hopkinton on the Lords day December 24th, 1815 by the Rev. Nathaniel Howe, A. M. pastor of the Church.

The sermon in a singular and even grotesque style gives a history of the town of Hopkinton, since its first incorporation in 1715. "There was formerly a man living in the kingdom of Great Britain," says our author, "whose name was Hopkins," he lived in England, but he thought of the difficulties which must be experienced in educating youth in America. After mentioning the establishment of Harvard college in 1636, Mr. Howe goes on to observe—"In the year 1642, the General Court established a board of overseers. In 1659 the charter of the Corporation was granted. And in the year 1657, Edward Hopkins made his will."

"Squire Hopkins was a man of great wealth; his estate was estimated at 20,000 sterling. Eight hundred pounds of his property was given to be laid out in lands, three fourths for the benefit of the college and one fourth to the General school in Cambridge. "This donation of Squire Hopkins to Harvard College was the money which first purchased Hopkinton. "As the town was purchased by the donation of Squire Hopkins to Harvard College, the lands were to be leased out to tenants at one penny sterling per acre, to be annually paid to the college to the year 1823, and three pence of like money afterwards."

Our author then gives the details of the history of the town as to its parochial and secular concerns, from 1723, to the present time. The most amusing part of the sermon relates to the reverend authors own connection with the parish since 1791. He complains that he could not get his first year's salary paid him, until long after the year had expired and proceeds—"Another difficulty your minister has had to encounter was the want of support. A vast change has taken place in the expense of dressing and living since my ordination, and yet no addition has been made to my salary. When a candidate, I determined I never would settle till I saw a reasonable prospect of a comfortable support, and when settled I never would complain of my salary. I remained of this mind till I had been your minister for fifteen years."

"Borne down with the fatigues of manual labor, pressed into the woods in the winter, to the plough in spring, and to the meadow in the summer, to support my family comfortably, I felt the business of the ministry was greatly neglected; that it was impossible for me to do what ought to be done in my profession, unless the people did so towards my support."

He then applied to the town, who finally refused to do any thing to assist him. He attacks those persons who voted against the increase of his salary by name. He then continues,

"My brethren, may I ask a plain, simple question? How shall I obtain your consent? Your countenances discover a willingness."

"The question is this.—Do you know by what means I have become so rich, as to have a great house finished and furnished; a farm, a herd of cattle, a flock of sheep, horses, and money at interest; I say nothing about my debts to day."

"Shall I answer this question: The principal reason is this: because I have been doing your business and neglecting my own.—Your business is to support your minister, and that I have been doing for more than 20 years. And my business is to study and preach; and in this I have never abandoned." I have sometimes administered reproof, both to the Church and the Society, in a manner that has been thought to discover some degree of severity; but in this case you have already had good sense enough to know you richly deserved it."

He concludes his discourse by some admonition, respecting their choice and treatment of another minister, after his death or dismission, which are equally remarkable for quaintness and originality.

We copy the following article from the Gardenier's New York Courier. It will answer extremely well for our meridian.

A LITTLE PLAIN ADVICE TO PLAIN PEOPLE.

"It is a warm day, but it will be cold in the winter; therefore keep a good look-out in time, and prepare for the worst." "God helps them that help themselves," said Dr. Franklin. Therefore do not depend too much upon charity; but, like the busy ants, provide a store for the severity of winter, while you may. And remember there is but one way to do it, and that is by industry and frugality."

"Get what you can, and what fairly got, hold."

"Tis the stone that will turn all your lead into gold."

"Do you see that man going regularly for his bitterns in the morning, his grog at noon, and his beer at night? How much better would he feel next winter, to have all the money he now spends so uselessly, to provide fuel and food for his family! How much better would it be, when his week's earnings are paid him, to buy a load of wood now, while it is cheap; and if he has any thing over, to provide a few vegetables while they are plenty, and the price low. His next week's labor will then be cheerfully reamed. His children will bless their father, and his wife cling with delight to her faithful husband. How much better all this, than the society of roaring tipplers, and noisy brawlers. Work then, I repeat—get more money, get more wood, and as the cold weather encreases, provide yourself with a DEAD HOG."

And if you must drink a little, lay up a barrel of good Cider. It will warm you as much as rum: is your own country manufacture, and cheap. There is but one objection to it: it will not be perhaps quite as pleasant a companion abroad, but rely upon it you will be infinitely more beloved & happy at home. Habit is a second nature, and when you are once used to it, I assure you, you will find it quite as easy to behave well, as to behave ill. Therefore stay at home as much as you possibly can. In fact, it is a thousand times more pleasant to be seated before a warm fire, at home, with your family cheerful and sportive around you, while the snow and hail are beating against your doors, than to encounter "the peltings of the pitiless storm." Feeling from the tavern to your desolate dwelling. Be industrious, be sober, be frugal, and you will enjoy that greatest of all earthly blessings, "the glorious privilege of being independent." If you are ever to get help from your more wealthy neighbors, deserve it first; you will never get much of it, without. In fact, the rich will have enough to do next winter. The number however of the rich, is diminished a great deal of late, and will diminish a great deal more, before winter sets in, I fear."

Translated for the New-York Evening Post, from the Buenos Ayres Official Gazette of the 17th August last.

The Declaration of the Independence of the United Provinces of Rio de la Plata.

The representatives of the United Provinces of Rio de la Plata, in the congress assembled, at the city of Tucuman, on the ninth day of the month of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixteen; the dispatch of the usual and ordinary business being over, they took again into consideration the motions and speeches made in the preceding days, upon the great and important subject of the independence of the people represented by the same congress, and who most earnestly, decidedly and universally wish and claim a sole act of their emancipation and freedom from the despotic power of the king of Spain. They, therefore, weighed this momentous matter with the utmost attention and care, devoting to its resolution all their talents, with that purity of intention requisite in sacrificing their own fate, that of the people they represent, and their posterity. On the question being put whether it was their wish that these united provinces should be free and independent from the king of Spain, and its metropolis, it was voted in the affirmative an unanimous acclamation of all the said representatives; who likewise, each of them individually, ratified and confirmed their respective, spontaneous, unanimous and decided vote for the independence of the country. In consequence whereof, the following resolution was determined on, to wit:

We, the people of the United Provinces of South America, in a general congress assembled, invoking the Almighty, who presides over the universe, and in the name, and by virtue of the authority of the people we represent, protesting before heaven and the nations, and men all over the world, the justice that guides our intentions, Do Solemnly Declare, in the face of the universe, that it is the indubitable and unanimous will of these provinces to break off the violent ties that united them to the kings of Spain, to reinstate themselves in the rights of which they have been dispossessed, & to assume the rank and character of a nation free and independent from the king Ferdinand VII. his successors and metropolis. These same provinces, therefore, being henceforth invested by act, and right, with full and absolute power to devise for themselves such forms of government, as justice and the state of the present circumstances may require. Each and every of the said provinces thus publish, declare and ratify the same, binding each one to the other, through us, to the fulfillment and support of this their will, under the pledge, and warranty of their own lives, fortunes and fame. Let this resolution be communicated to the department it doth belong to make the same public; and out of the respect due to other nations, let a manifesto be issued, detaining the great and weighty reasons, that have moved and constrained us to make this solemn declaration. Done in the Hall of Sessions, signed by our hands, sealed with the seal of the congress and countersigned by the representatives acting secretaries.

their successors and metropolis, as well as from the dominion of any other power?—Do you swear to our Lord God, and promise to our country, to uphold these rights even to the loss of your life, fortune, and fame? GENERAL BISSELL.

We have received a supplement to the Nashville Whig of the 8th instant, containing six or seven columns of the proceedings of the court martial convened in that place for the trial of brevet brigadier general Daniel Bissell. The charges made against the general were, 1st, for "unofficer-like conduct," 2d, in gambling within the limits of the garrison and posts, contrary to orders; in exacting money from his soldiers for his own private convenience and advantage; in disobeying orders to erect a fort on the Illinois river; and in requiring Lieutenant Campbell, with a detachment of men, at a most inopportune season, to ascend the Mississippi with provisions to fulfil a private contract with a citizen; 3d, "unofficer-like conduct," in writing a most rude and scurrilous letter to Col Nicholas; 4th, "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman," in keeping divers soldiers cultivating his farm, without ordering them out in any part of the time for muster and inspection; in making false returns; in wishing to appropriate some public "tin" to his own use; in wasting other public property; and in exercising tyranny over Lieutenant Lucas; 5th, "disobedience of orders, unofficer-like, and ungentlemanly conduct," in various specific acts of gambling, embezzlement of public property, arbitrary and ungentlemanly conduct to certain officers and citizens, falsehood, calumny towards the deceased late of captain Campbell, contemptuous and disrespectful language towards President Madison.

The court martial, of which brevet general Smith was president, found general Bissell guilty of writing a rude and abusive letter to Col. Nicholas, of indulging himself in remarks injurious to the character of that officer, and of "unofficer-like conduct" specified in the 4th or additional charge abovementioned; and they sentenced him to be reprimanded in general orders.

"Major General Jackson approves the finding of the court, and proceeds to fill its sentence."

"In a military point of view, abusive language used by officers to each other, is calculated to destroy discipline, produce contention, and ultimate in much injury to the service; and must be under any circumstances reprehensible—the general is bound by his duty to express his marked disapprobation of a practice so fraught with evil."

"Brevet brigadier general Bissell will resume his sword, and await orders."

Consulate of the United States of America.

St. Thomas, Sept. 22, 1816.

I, Robert Monroe Harrison, Consul of the United States of America for the Island of St. Thomas, do hereby certify and make known, that John S. Pope, master of the brig Rambler of Wells, Massachusetts, appeared before me this day, and deposed in the words and manner following:

"That he arrived in this harbor on Saturday evening, the twentieth Sept. at 4 o'clock, in very great distress, having lost all his masts, spars, yards, sails and rigging, during the late gale; that his arrival was immediately reported at the fort; and on the Monday morning following, at 12 o'clock, whilst employed on board his vessel in securing his wreck, etc. he, to his utmost astonishment, heard the report of a cannon, and found that a shot had been fired at his vessel from the fortress; upon which he immediately went to the custom house to ascertain the cause of this unexpected and unprovoked aggression, when he was informed it had been done in consequence of his not having reported there in due time, although the time the shot was fired, was four hours previous to the expiration of the period allowed him by the regulations of the port, to make his report, these regulations allowing twenty four hours after arrival. Sundays holidays excepted, to perform this duty. He further states, that permission had been refused him to move his vessel from an exposed situation to a place of safety, until he had promised a compliance with a demand made on him for payment for the aforesaid shot, against which he remonstrated to the commandant, but with out obtaining any redress. He only thus publicly makes this declaration, in order to express his detestation of the measures which have been pursued against him, and to warn his fellow citizens to avoid exposing themselves to similar insults and aggressions. Robbery of the Bank.

We are gratified to announce the arrest of a person, who is no doubt a man who committed the above nefarious act. Yesterday morning information was lodged, grounded on circumstances which will appear on the trial, with the cashier of the bank, that a man, on whom suspicions rested, could be secured. Proper measures were immediately taken, and a person lately from Albany, and a person understood to be William Lewis, alias Lewis Leonard, arrested at his lodgings. He was a man of very imposing appearance and appeared undismayed at his situation. After an examination before Alderman, his trunk was opened in the presence of David Leno, Esq. by whom a lost plate was discovered and clasp together with all, or nearly all, the property lost. This circumstance rendered certain that this is the man who committed the act. A cane was found in possession of large size, which was at the top, in which was discovered a cutlass and a pair of small pistols concealed with great ingenuity, not for purposes which he can best explain. After a full hearing he was committed for trial.

In 1808, shortly after that successful hero James Madison, was called for the Presidency, and with him will be remembered the present dollars a day congressmen's "cash" was not a little dissatisfied, John Binns expressed himself of the honorable Monroe in the terms following:

"Though we should have been satisfied with Clinton, and though we are decidedly opposed to the Union of Congresses, or the intrigues of midnight cabals, yet as the people expressed themselves satisfied with nomination of Mr. Madison, we longer oppose what appears to be the voice of the people.—Vice the subject it may be necessary to find a faction has mentioned Mr. Monroe as being better qualified, a entitled to the favour of the nation. Binns, shall, for the present, only ask American prizes the free institution of a country would trust James Monroe one?"

So said Binns, the governor, in 1808!! But the reader, Mr. Dallas was not of the Treasury; and Monroe disgrace with the old man of the town; neither was he Secretary—and neither had he the mean time works wonders.

Now let us consider. Binns says, either did or did not what he believed to be true. If what he believed to be true, in guise of contempt and abhorrence speak of the man who now for the first office in the gift of try, one whom he believes to be so base, so unfit? After a full hearing he was committed for trial.

The editor, Mr. John Binns, is one of a committee for the state of Pennsylvania, to see that no electors of President be chosen who will not previously declare that they will vote for Mr. Monroe. Now let us see what this same Binns thought of Mr. Monroe four years ago.

From the Washingtonian.

BINNS vs. MONROE.

In 1808, shortly after that wonderful hero James Madison, was caucused for the Presidency, and with which it will be remembered the present Twelve dollars a day congressmen's candidate was not a little dissatisfied, John Binns expressed himself of the honorable James Monroe in the terms following to wit:— "Though we should have been better satisfied with Clinton, and though we are decidedly opposed to the usurpation of Congresses, or the intrigues of midnight cabals, yet as the people have expressed themselves satisfied with the nomination of Mr. Madison, we shall no longer oppose what appears to us now to be the voice of the people. While on the subject it may be necessary to state that a faction has mentioned Mr. James Monroe as being better qualified, and more entitled to the favour of the nation, than Mr. James Madison. Of Mr. Monroe we know little that can entitle him to the high distinction he covets, unless it is playing the fawning parasite and deplorable sycophant at St. James' instead of being the agent and representative of the only free nation on earth: and concluding a treaty with the British government which, in every thing but the name brought us back to the low and degraded condition of British colonies. As to any thing else, and when we reflect upon some incidents in the revolutionary history of Col. Monroe, we shall, for the present, only ask what American prizes the free institutions of his country would trust James Monroe? Not one!"

So said Binns, the governor's governor, in 1808!— But then, gentle reader, Mr. Dallas was not Secretary of the Treasury: and Monroe was in disgrace with the old man of the mountain: neither was he Secretary of State—and neither had he the means of stopping the jaws of imported Cerebus. But time works wonders.

Now let us consider. Binns, as lawyer, either did or did not, write what he believed to be true. If he wrote what he believed to be true, in what language of contempt and abhorrence shall we speak of the man who now advocates for the first office in the gift of his country, one whom he believes to be so low, so base, so unfit? If he did not believe as he then wrote, who can picture to his imagination a more hideous and detestable calumniator? We have not seen the pamphlet giving the proof of the leathern conduct of this Binns, but we can hardly conceive of any action too vile for perpetration by a man who, as in this instance, unblushingly and triumphantly, bares to the world's view such astonishing deformity. We should be ashamed of Mr. Monroe if we did not think himself ashamed of such a supporter. Yet whom from Callender to Abraham Bishop, who had been instrumental his election, did not Mr. Jefferson reward? We have not a vile opinion of all the democratic editors, but we know there are too many of them that, like Binns, would utter calumny upon calumny against Clinton or Crawford, and lying eulogies on Clinton or Crawford, and calumnies against Monroe, as either might appear to have the prospect of being elected.

Such is the editor of the Democratic Press—Cherish him ye democratic editors for he is your kinsman.

From the Spirit of Public Journals.

The public is a being with many heads, and consequently possesses as many different minds: as those can amply testify who are the servants of its will, among whom printers perhaps are the chief Batters and Bakers. "Give us more foreign intelligence," says the news-monger, "and let domestic politics alone." "Battle the feds, dash away at the demons," cries the politician; "a fight for your foreign intelligence, unless you can send Emperor Bonaparte into England, up to his knees in blood. We do not want to hear about ships spoken at sea, a courier passing through Hamper-goscampendium; Marshal Helter Skelter, holding audience with his serene highness the landgrave of Lamberdellion, or the marriage of Count Waddlerwattle, with her ladyship the duchess of Wink-unsquintum; let not your paper detail such important advices." "Hit the federal or democratic editors," exclaims a third, "nothing I like so well as squabbling among editors: there is some fun in that." "Let us have another novel," says Mr. Fiddle, "I like novels monstrously, especially if it be something scarce as in them: I would not give a cent for the papers if they had not a novel in them." Novels says old Grouse: "Nonsense! give us something about farming, tell us how to destroy the Hessian fly, or something about being older, or wheat upon clover." "Like novels too," says Miss Simper, "but besides them I want a good deal more poetry, and a number of queer stories about Ann Needles; I love to read them terribly." All wishy washy, says Jack Galloper, give us the sport of the turf; tell us about the race between Madam Thornton and Mr. Flint, and her challenging him after she got beat; that's the dandy.

Thus might we go on ad infinitum, and describe the modes which Mr. Public points out for us to be guided by, in conducting our paper; in answer, we can only say, that although we consider our own method best, yet, as soon as they can all agree upon one plan, we will cheerfully adopt it; and until then, we trust we may be permitted to jog on in the old way, of giving a little of everything which we consider the most important. "If all the land was paper," "And all the sea were ink," "It would still be impossible for us to comply with all the demands of the public, until those demands become more united."

OBITUARY.—We have to perform the melancholy task of announcing the decease of his excellency James Madison, governor of this state. He died on Monday last, at Paris, in Bourbon County, where he had been several weeks confined by a painful illness. We shall not attempt to pourtray the character of this amiable man—his virtues and patriotism are too well known to need eulogium. His whole life was devoted to the service of his country—the conspicuous station to which he had been so recently chosen by the unanimous voice of his fellow citizens, amply attests his worth.

In consequence of the above distressing event, the government will be administered by Gabriel Slaughter, Lieut. Governor, for four years. The constitution does not provide for a re-election.

New York, Oct. 28.

Extract of a letter from Port au Prince, dated Sept. 28.

"We are at present in great confusion owing to a tremendous hurricane that took place on the night of the 18th. A very vessel in the harbor was either upset or driven on shore, but fortunately they are nearly all off without receiving much damage. Nearly one quarter of this town is blown down; and all the country as far as we have heard, is havoc and destruction. Markets for American produce very good, but the returns wretched. Flour 28 to 30 dollars per barrel."

On Thursday last, His Excellency the Governor, presented to General Miller, an elegant sword, which was awarded to him by the Legislature of this State. The sword was well bestowed on a brave man and was presented and received in a handsome manner.

NEW YORK Oct. 24.

From Trinidad.—We learn from Capt. Leach, of the schooner Collins, that it was reported at Trinidad, just before he sailed, that Sir Gregory McGregor, had given battle to the Royal army in the Province of Valencia, and totally defeated them; and it was also reported that Cumana had fallen into the hands of the Patriots.

We have received a paper which contains the following article:— "Port Spain, Sept. 18.—In addition to the late DEFEAT sustained by the insurgent army under Bolivar, at Ocumera, published in our last, we have to communicate the total defeat, or rather destruction, of another division of the same insurgent army, under the command of Sir Gregory M'Gregor, who was also slain, and his body (salted) sent to Caracas to be exposed. This intelligence has been received here from so respectable a source, as to leave no doubt of its authenticity. So that the royal cause, in Venezuela at least, is likely to put down all opposition for some time to come. We shall wait with anxiety for the official details of this affair.

It will be perceived that the above accounts are very contradictory.

NEW-ORLEANS, September 27.

We have just received the following news from the coast of Mexico:— "Boquila de Pedra, Sept. 16.

"General Gaudipe Victoria has beaten the enemy at Orissava, and taken from them all the crop of tobacco, so precious for fattening their treasury. The commandant Teran has gone by forced marches to the villages on the coast, to the south of Vera Cruz, to seize on the port of Guazacalcos, from whence the royalists fled to Vera Cruz, according to a number of intercepted letters.

"A Spanish squadron lately sent several launches, mounted by a hundred soldiers, to drive the Patriots from Boquila de Pedra; but the Dons, repulsed with the loss of several men, retired with the greatest precipitation."

QUACKERY PUNISHED.

Revere, New-Hampshire, Oct. 19.

At the Superior Court, holden in town the present week, came on for trial, a case of Pedra Day vs. John L. Dexter, for mal-practice as a Surgeon. The evidence on trial was, that in the fall of 1815, the defendant was called on to examine a slight sore on the ankle of the plaintiff. The defendant pronounced it a cancer, and said he could cure it and began to apply his caustics. By this application he eat and destroyed the flesh and muscles to the bone, and in cutting what he called the Cancer, cut off the tendons and cords, and entirely destroyed the use of the ankle and foot. It appeared from the testimony of Dr. Pritchett and other surgeons, that the sore when Dexter began his application was nothing like a cancer, and a surgeon of any knowledge would have known it was not. That the course of treatment by D. was grossly improper. An advertisement of Dr. D. published in this paper in June 1815, was read in evidence where the Doctor informed the public that he could cure all disorders subject to the human frame, and that he had cured the Indians, &c. &c.

The chief justice gave an excellent charge to the jury, and directed them, that if they considered the plaintiff's case proved, it was their duty to give liberal damages. That they should not only give sufficient to compensate the plaintiff for the injury done but also as a punishment to the defendant. That the public were interested that such gross quackery and imposition should be put down. The jury gave a verdict for plaintiff for 2400 damages. Henderson and Chamberlain, for plaintiff; Wilson for defendant.

By an act of the last session of Parliament, chap. 58. a penalty of 200l. is imposed on the brewer using sugar, or any ingredient whatever, but malt or hops, in the process of brewing. A penalty of 500l. is also imposed on druggists or any person whatever, selling to a brewer, any ingredient of any kind to be used in the process of brewing.

WALTZING.

The fashionable German Waltz Dance is said to have originated in the mode adopted by the Scotch women, two of whom get into a tub, alternately following each other round the inner edge or treading together in the middle, till the clothes are clean. Sometimes a bonny lassie treads with her gallant, and then the washing is done right merrily. The idea was ingenious enough, for a phlegmatic German, to transpose the dance from the tub to the assembly room, where washing might be done in rather a more genteel style.

Deaf and Dumb.—Lord Ellenborough, the present Chief Justice of England, convicted a criminal in a case of life and death upon the testimony of a boy born deaf and dumb. The boy evinced his sanity & sagacity by the same means that the butcher's boy did whose vote was refused at the poll of the first ward, by signs or gestures, clearly comprehensible; and which the chief justice had no difficulty in assuring the jury ought to be received as ample testimony in the case.

SULLY FOR SALE.

THIS estate, situated in the county of Fairfax, twenty-two miles from Alexandria and the same distance from Georgetown, contains about seven hundred and fifty acres. Little River Turnpike passes through it half a mile from the dwelling house. The situation is handsome, and remarkably healthy; the water is good and abundant. The soil, which was originally excellent, has for some years past had the advantage of improving husbandry, Plaster of Paris acting with powerful and immediate effect on all grasses and grains. The fields present a good surface for cultivation;
and those, now untilled, are covered with red clover. The orchards are very large and thrifty; the collection of table fruit is choice and various. The mansion is spacious and well constructed; the outhouses are all conveniently situated;
those for farming purposes are expensive,
and excellent in their kind.

For a gentleman of leisure this would be a delightful residence; and a profitable estate to an active farmer. The title is indisputable, and perfectly unincum-bered.

A number of well taught orderly young men, with good stocks and farming utensils of all kinds, and the crops of the present year if desired, will be at the command of the purchaser.
